The judge noted that Mr. Chang Ung had not been elected President of ITF as stipulated in the Constitution and, therefore, he had no connection with the ITF or its legal registration in Vienna. The appointment and/or registration of Ung Mr. Chang Ung as President as well as of other officers' names during the summer of 2004 and all measures taken by them on behalf of the ITF and all resolutions passed at the meeting held on 26 July 2004 are null and void.
The executive committee members elected at the Congress in Warsaw are the legitimate officers of the ITF. This case was decided in favour of the ITF (with costs to be paid by the Chang Ung group), since the Chang Ung group did not appear in court.

2007-09

The Civil Court in Vienna announced its decision on the question: Who is the legally-elected President of ITF?

A few important points from the judge's decision:

It cannot be stated with certainty that General Choi expressed the wish that Mr. Chang Ung be his successor as President of ITF but, in any case, that question has no relevance for the legal questions in this case.

The court had to decide which election was carried out according to the Constitution and in respect for the laws of Austria (where the ITF is legally registered) and, therefore, which election produced valid results.

The proclaiming of Mr. Chang Ung as the new President of ITF at the time of the 100-day memorial for General Choi did not in the least comply with the provisions of the ITF Constitution. Therefore, any resolutions made at that meeting were void from the beginning.

The judge pointed out that Mr. Chang Ung had never been elected President of ITF and has no right to speak or act on behalf of the ITF.

The election at the Warsaw Congress in 2003 was carried out according to the Constitution and the officers elected at that time are the legitimate officers of the ITF.

The Chang Ung group has lodged a motion to appeal this decision.

The Next Steps:

The ITF will ask the court to order the North Koreans to turn over the headquarters building in Vienna, to return the 160,000 USD they took from the ITF bank account, and to reimburse the ITF for other expenses incurred. Other legal action will be taken as required.

Letters will be sent to the IOC, WTF, and GAISF to inform them of these recent court decisions.

Quebec City, October 4th 2007.
